Alpha Chi Appoints 31 New Members

Thirty-one students, 25 juniors and 6 seniors—have been newly elected to membership in the Iowa Alpha Chapter of Alpha Chi, national honor scholarship society, according to Dean John O. Chellevold.

Initiation will be held tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. in Centennial Hall Lounge with the public invited.

Newly elected juniors include John Adams, Boscobel, Wis.; David Andreae, Strawberry Point; Judith Atz, Apple River, Ill.; Barbara Bose, Dumas, Tex.; Doyle Burn, Dumont; Terry Dahlquist, Cosmos, Minn.; Darrel Gerrietts, Akron.

Albert Goldammer, Corsica, S. D.; Judith Hoeger, Maynard; Mary Homan, Waverly; Janet Hoppenworth, Sumner; Harry Jebsen, Blue Island, Ill.

BETTY KALKWARF, Champaign, Ill.; Joanne Kinsinger, Ottumwa· Brian Kruger, Waverly; Judith Lanaghan, Clinton; Katherine Lewellan, Cedar Falls; Donna Meyer, Anchor, Ill.; James Miller, Tripoli; Nancy Rahn, Wausau, Wis.

Kathryn Schroder, West Union; Judith Slade, Mason City; Keith Tomlinson, Tama; Barbara Uchtorff, Davenport; and Carolyn Wulff, Canova, S.D.

Newly elected seniors include Maxine Bauer, Jesup; Karen Friedrichs, Farnhamville; Karen Kruger, Holland; James Matthias, Clarksville; Ruth Struckman, Rochester, Minn.; and August Waltmann, Cedar Falls.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for election to Alpha Chi, a student must be in the upper 10 per cent of his class and must be approved by the faculty.

Objectives of Alpha Chi as stated in the handbook "shall be the promotion and recognition of scholarship and of those elements of character which make scholarship effective for good among the undergraduate students in academic divisions of colleges and universities in the United States."

Alpha Chi organization was started in 1922. Wartburg College received its chapter, one of 56, in 1960. Dr. John O. Chellevold, dean of faculty, is the sponsor. Assistant sponsors are Dr. Robert Dell, Religion Department, and Dr. James Fritschel, Music Department.

Debaters Win Four

Four out of eight debates was the score of the debate squad competing in the first tournament of the year at Carthage College, Carthage Ill., last Saturday.

Negative team, composed of Gary Lamb, freshman, and Walt Buenning, sophomore, won its debates with Northern Illinois, rated as one of the top schools in the division, and with Amundsen-Mayfair Junior College. The negative team lost to Western Illinois and Canton Junior College.

Affirmative debaters, Sue Stueber, freshman, and Lois Reyelts, sophomore, defeated teams from Northwest Missouri State and Wisconsin State College at Whitewater. Their losses were to Parsons and Northern Illinois.

Miss Reyelts, Buenning and Lamb received an overall speaking rating of "Excellent" and Miss Stueber received "Good."

Next debate tournament the squad will attend is scheduled for Oct. 26 at Western Illinois University, Macomb, Ill.

Pep Rally To Launch Homecoming

Junior Dale Fridley, novelties chairman, sells Dave Van Ahn, senior, the first Homecoming button. Fridley urges everyone to support the Knights in "Beating the Birds" by wearing a booster button.

A gigantic Homecoming pep rally will launch weekend festivities Thursday. Waverly Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the pep rally down Bremer Avenue to the city parking lot across from the Waverly post office.

Entire student body will be organized on campus and led by the Marching Knights, cheerleaders and police escort.

Following the rally, the Chamber of Commerce will serve refreshments.

SALE OF HOMECOMING novelties began today in various dorms and around campus. Homecoming buttons, featuring the "Belt the Birds" theme, megaphones, pennants and mums are for sale. Mums will be in three colors—bronze, gold and white.

Balloons will be sold at the game. After the Knights' first touchdown, all balloons will be released.

Anyone finding a Wartburg balloon will be asked, on the card attached, to return the card by mail. Cash prizes will be offered to the three students whose names are on the cards returned from the greatest distance.

BOB BONE AND Gwen Parlin, co-chairmen of Homecoming weekend, have announced that tickets for the various events will go on sale in the dorms Monday.

Tickets for Kastle Kapers will be 50 cents; banquet tickets $1.90; and dance tickets will be sold for $2.

Limited number of student tickets will be available for the banquet, Saturday evening at the Waverly First Methodist Church.

Recital Series Begins

First 1963-1964 series of Wartburg faculty recitals will be held in the Chapel-auditorium at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday. Performers will be John E. Bentley and his wife, Mrs. Judith Cook Bentley.

The program will consist of solo and chamber works for flute, oboe and piano. The works in the order of the program are as follows: Trio Sonate in C minor for flute, oboe and piano by J. J. Quantz; Sonate VI in E major for flute and piano by J. S. Bach.

Also, Partita I in B-flat major for oboe and piano by G. P. Telemann; Kanonische Sonatine opus 31 Nr. 3 by P. Hindemith; Sonata for flute and piano by F. Poulenc and Concerto in one movement for oboe and piano by E. Goossens.

BENTLEY'S MUSICAL BACKground includes undergraduate work at the University of Alabama, where he was first oboist with the University Orchestra and Concert Band for four years.

In 1959, he was selected as one of 57 college musicians from music schools around the country to play in the American Wind Symphony, an organization which tours the Ohio River Valley each summer presenting concerts.

In 1960 he was awarded a three-year National Defense Education Act Fellowship for graduate work at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn. While in Nashville, Bentley was a member of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra and an active recitalist.

Mrs. Bentley's undergraduate work was completed at Oberlin Conservatory, recognized as one of the leading music schools in the country. While at Oberlin, Mrs. Bentley made numerous appearances on student recitals and was first flutist in the Oberlin Orchestra and Wind Ensemble.

Through the junior-year-abroad program she was a student at the Mozarteum Academy in Salzburg, Austria, and spent the summer of 1959 as a member of the Salzburg Festival Orchestra.

Upon graduation from Oberlin, she went to Philadelphia for a year of intensive study with the world famous flutist William Kincaid.

WHILE IN PHILADELPHIA, she was selected from a field of 90 advanced students to appear as a soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy.

This performance will be the first public appearance by the Bentleys since their arrival in Waverly. Faculty and students of Wartburg as well as the general public are cordially invited to attend, according to an announcement from the office of the Music Department.

Publications Receive Honors

The 1963 Fortress and second-semester Trumpet received critical ratings during the past week. An "A" rating was received by the Fortress and a "First Class" by the Trumpet.

National School Yearbook Association with headquarters in Memphis, Tenn., explains the score "A" for the Fortress as meaning "Excellent."

Special praise was given for cover, type, advertising, intramurals, index, picture-cropping and consistency.

CRITICISMS WERE directed toward cutlines, headlines, campus scenes without poeple and lack of explanation of how honorees were chosen.

Fortress rating was just slightly below the highest rating, A+.

First Class rating awarded the Trumpet by the Associated Collegiate Press was one of 16 first-places given to the 74 newspapers in the Trumpet division.

HIGH RATINGS WERE given to coverage, content, sports, headlines and typography.

Adverse criticism concerned creativeness, features, editorial features and make-up and inside news pages.

Dear Students, Parents and Alumni:

You are cordially invited to the President's Reception to be held at the home of Pres. C. H. Becker on Sunday, Oct. 20, beginning at 3 p.m.

Sincerely,
Bob Bone and Gwen Parlin
Homecoming Co-chairmen

Quiz Bowl Starts Mon.

Wartburg College Quiz Bowl program for the first semester will start this Monday with intramural competition.

It will continue through Tuesday, Oct. 29, when a team will travel to Simpson for an intercollegiate contest.

Designed to "provide a challenging outlet for those students who desire to compete in this area," the organization extends a welcome to students who possess knowledge in various areas and who have the ability to answer questions demanding immediate recall.

DURING THE FIRST semester of the 1962-63 year, Simpson challenged the Wartburg Quiz Bowl team to a match, which was accepted. Second semester, Simpson was invited here for a return bout, at which it captured the Intercollegiate Quiz Bowl championship.

This year the intramural program will be held on the evenings of Monday, Oct. 14, through Friday, Oct. 25. Team members who will go to Simpson on Tuesday, Oct. 29, will be selected on the basis of their performances during the intramural competition.

According to Phil Truckenbrod, chairman of the Quiz Bowl Committee, preparations for this year's event are continuously progressing. He urged all students to consider this program and search their capabilities in regard to this type of competition.

"THE TYPE OF person best qualified," declared Truckenbrod, "is someone who has the ability to recall facts over a large area."

He explained this statement by saying that the topics covered in the quiz range from the intricacies of philosophy to the unique tactics of sports.

"Students who would like to participate in this program should contact their dorm presidents immediately," stated Truckenbrod.

He also made an appeal to all students to submit questions to him for possible use in the contests. Questions should be put in Box 347.

Quiz Bowl Committee, including Truckenbrod, Sharon Oppermann, Marilee Neptun and faculty adviser, Donald G. Douglas, will serve as officials for the contests.

"TUESDAY MORNING, Oct. 29, the team of four and the committee will leave for Indianola to try to unseat the Simpson Intercollegiate Quiz Bowl champs," said Truckenbrod.

EDITORIALS

Art Thou Guilty?

And in this knightly community of Wartburgia live many noble intelligentsia. There are grammarians, scientists, musicians, theologians, linguists, journalists, sociologists and psychologists.

But, behold, many of these scholarly individuals are selfish, inconsiderate and rude.

Yea, Yea, royal subjects. Ye single Homo sapiens may be the rude one.

One dusk hour midst tribulation of scholarly foretaking, many knights and ladies proceeded to sup of the evening nourishment.

Scholars partook of their period of wait at V o'clock. Indeed, it was a wait, and this procedure in which they wished to proceed to sup did not proceed aboundingly fast. They became immobile.

It seems that upon the bottom of an enbankment is a vestibule onto which many subjects may step, without having to initiate great proportions of energy in climbing to the top and without having to remain standing in this period of wait.

By savagely, powerfully and strongly barging one's way, trampling over the multitude, one may partake of the evening hour nourishment sooner than was anticipated.

This great accomplishment is called the breaking of an established linear arrangement.

Now to those who break the established linear arrangement, this is the signal for glee and merriment because they have indeed unscrupulously outwitted some lesser knight.

But behold, to those in front of whom he barges, there appear much agitation and distress. Switching from colors of amber, from rage to paleness of disbelief, the lesser knight is appalled at this action. Not only have the digestional system and salivary glands become excruciatingly depressed, but also the intellectual stimulator (teacher) will be sorely displeased at his tardiness.

Therefore, perhaps an edict should be passed in which the breakers of established linear arrangements should be severely punished and a recommendation be made to serve before V:XX X, only intelligentsia partaking of evening intellectual stimulation.

Initiative Still Wanted

Let's be careful; our apathy is showing. How much has Wartburg done in our stand against segregation—if we have even taken a stand?

Over a month ago an appeal was made in an editorial for some steps to be taken in our Christian fight against segregation. As far as I've heard, little has been done.

Let's consider what could be done. Students could make public acclaim of conviction through a resolution by the student body. Perhaps our Campus Chest could donate a percentage to one of the societies for the advancement of colored people. Our student body project could be a scholarship fund to encourage more Negroes to attend our college.

Our administration should be encouraged to hire minority group personnel, not only as teachers, but also as secretaries, janitors and kitchen workers.

Or are we prejudiced or apathetic?

The United States National Student Association called for a national vigil on all college and university campuses through Sept. 27.

The vigil, originated by a group of students at the University of Illinois, was conducted at over fifty schools across the United States and was designed to "Demonstrate the profound feelings of compassion felt by the American student community for the oppressive conditions that exist in the Negro Community in Birmingham as demonstrated by the killing of four innocent children attending Sunday School on September 15."

At most campuses the vigil took the form of silence at noon, followed by 10 minutes of speeches by the leaders of various religious and civil rights groups as well as campus officials.

The United States National Student Association also requested that all student governments "make their feelings on the Birmingham crisis known to the President, their Senators and their local Congressmen."

What did we at Wartburg do? NOTHING.

Why must we be so complacent about such a vital situation? Is it, again, because it is much easier not to be involved?

Why didn't YOU use some initiative?

BECKER'S BANTER

Many-Sided Students Present Versatilities

By Kathryn Becker

A college student is many things to people: a darling child; a favored sibling; a loving sweetheart; a real buddy; an enormous charge-account; a non-working employee; a registration number; a nuisance. . . .

A college student is seen in a different light by each person he encounters during the dark years away from home.

To parents he is their gift to the world. At college he can only be a success. A potential genius who has yet to find his true capabilities.

They are willing to sacrifice, because they know he is devoting himself entirely to the pursuit of higher learning, to the gaining of knowledge which can never be taken from him. Thus, they struggle to provide their child with all those things they missed. (If they only knew he wasn't missing a trick.)

Becker

To the girlfriend back home, he's Cary Grant, John Wayne and Louis Jordan thrown into one untidy package. But he's all hers. Those fond farewells and the irrevocable promises will not be forgotten.

Oh, he doesn't have time to write because he's studying all the time. (Someone should tell her he's not registered for biology and chemistry.) Besides, when he comes home on weekends, he's a College Man! So she's all loving and trusting—and a fool.

★ ★ ★ ★

To the friend who's going to another school or working at home, he's a fountain of pertinent information. He knows the best pranks to play in the dorm. The best places to take a girl and which type of girl to take where for the least amount of money—or none at all. College hasn't changed him a bit; he's the same good buddy he always was. And he promised to provide a worldly coed for a double date any time.

To the clothing store owner in her hometown, she might be but a pleasant memory of a steady stream of sales tickets if it were not for the fact that she comes home on weekends and out-buys her old record. No more tennies for her; it has to be something more suitable for college life.

College activities are so varied that it is necessary to assemble a whole new wardrobe—to his delight, and hers. How can she acquire what she came for if she isn't properly dressed?

To the employer, he should be a tax exemption. Always eager to do the least work for the most pay and longest coffee breaks. Eternally late. Either sleeping or studying—whichever he didn't do the night before for various reasons.

Willing to plead sick with the slightest hangover. Anxious to take extended holidays. But lovable. Is there anything more rewarding than helping a struggling student through college?

★ ★ ★ ★

To the college administration, he is only a registration number. Another name in a file. Someone to greet with a smile the beginning day of school, to hand a diploma the last day and to put up with the four years in between. Provided that the number is on a tuition receipt marked "paid in full."

To whom is the college student a nuisance? That would be telling.

Student Criticizes

Dear Editor:

It strikes me as being a shame that the switchboard operators at the college are so lacking in manners and conscientiousness.

Being an off-campus student, I have found it necessary to speak with the operators many times. When calling in the evening, I have waited as long as four minutes before the switchboard acknowledged my incoming call.

Oftentimes the operator has erred in placing the call, and when I called to explain, I was cut off. There is nothing more humiliating than being cut off on the telephone. Aren't these operators supervised?

It seems to me that something should be done to correct this poor service. I would not complain if it were a rare occurrence, but it happens too often! I am sure that not all of the girls are inconsiderate and inefficient. I am sure that some of them are.

I sincerely ask that something be done to instruct these girls in the field of common courtesy and the seriousness of their job. I am sorry that the college allows this problem to exist. Perhaps something can be done.

SIDELINE SLANTS

Knights 50, Norse 100 In Contest For Axe

By Mike Becker

Wartburg 50 Luther 100.

Another victory for the bare-footed wonders of Coach John Kurtt. The fifth victory in a row could not have been won at a more opportune time and over a bigger rival — Luther.

Wartburg's fine cross-country team can be attributed to two things — the hard work of the runners and the willingness of the coach to take an interest in the sport he coaches.

Becker

Head master John Kurtt has taken a great interest in this sport of cross country. He has changed it from a group of guys who liked to run but knew little about it to a group of well-trained and disciplined runners with a spirit all their own.

The only sour note to this success story is the lack of student backing at these meets.

Many people have said many things about our football team this year, both about its players and its coaches. There is nothing I could possibly add to all these comments. I do think that both the last two games we have lost could have and should have been won.

The loss to Simpson could prove to be the turning point in the season. Failure to rebound from the Luther debacle cost us a deserved victory against the Redmen. This let-down, coupled with a flock of injuries and no capable replacements in sight, should prove the guideposts of a long season.

Prediction: Wartburg will beat Iowa Wesleyan and then start the Homecoming weekend off to a glorious start by upsetting Upper Iowa in the Battle for the Bell.

IM'S See Close Action

By Dan Knobloch

In I.M. action this past week, North Hall beat the team composed of Cotta, Grossmann III and Off-campus men by a slim 20-13 score.

Gamma scored early when quarterback Bill Westphal handed off to halfback Roger Damrow, who then passed to the right end for the TD.

The extra point was good.

NORTH HALL BOUNCED back on its first play as quarterback Kurt Thorson ran 60 yards for a TD. The try for the extra point failed.

A short time later North Hall gained possession of the ball again and quickly marched to the opponents' 20-yard line. Thorson then handed to halfback Andy Schmidt, who went over for the touchdown. This time the extra point was good.

Gamma - Cotta - Grossmann III - Off-campus tied the score before the half ended on a razzle-dazzle play in which Westphal lateraled to Damrow, who threw to end Rick Lohr. The extra point was no good.

IN THE SECOND half Thorson scored for North Hall on the kickoff return. The try for the extra point was good. Neither team was able to score again.

In its only other game this week, North Hall trounced Alpha House by a 39-0 margin.

Ketha House won its first game of the season by a forfeit over Off-campus. Off-campus, now playing with the Gamma-Cotta group, has forfeited the remainder of its games this season.

IN WHAT WAS probably the hardest fought game of the year, Ketha House barely edged out Vollmer House with a narrow 13-6 victory. Both teams were hard-hitting.

Clinton III, tied at the top of the unbeaten list with North Hall, was victorious twice in the last week. Clinton I and Basement fell before them by a 40 to 13 score, and Grossmann II was downed 25 to 13.

In the Clinton I and Basement game quarterback John Mantey opened the scoring on a run. He then hit Jerry Zehr with a pass and handed off to Zehr for two more TD's. Mantey passed to Tom Wilson and again to Zehr to make the score 34 to 13.

BOTH OF CLINTON I's and Basement's touchdowns threw the first to Randy Marsh and the second to Jim Ridge. Zehr scored his fourth touchdown of the day on an end run shortly before the close.

In the game against Grossmann II, Mantey again teamed with Zehr and Wilson to gain the victory. Mantey scored first on an end sweep, but Grossmann II quickly tied the score on a long run by Jim Hamer.

Mantey passed to Zehr in the third quarter to pull ahead, but Hamer made another long run to tie the score again. Clinton III put the game on ice in the fourth quarter as Wilson scored twice on passes from Mantey.

CLINTON II ALSO won two games this week. The first was a 33 to 6 decision over Vollmer House, and the second was 14 to 0 over the Gamma-Cotta men.

Vollmer scored early in the first half on a pitch-out from quarterback Gerald Baldner to Jerome Hemenway. Quarterback Dick Ridout then passed to Jan Heard for a touchdown, and then Heard passed to Ridout for another TD.

In the second half Ridout again passed Heard for a score, Heard threw to Jim Engelkes for another, and fullback Wayne Burress scored on a smashing run up the middle.

Against the Gamma group Heard threw a pass over center to Arlen Kruger for a TD and then handed off to halfback Ron Nelson for a second one. Both extra points were good.

In the only other game scheduled, Grossmann I and Basement won over Off-campus by a forfeit.

Harriers Look For 6th Win

By Jack & Coon

Unbeaten Wartburg harriers will be going after their sixth win this Tuesday at 4 p.m. as the fleet-foots take on State College of Iowa at Cedar Falls.

The only thing we know about SCI's team this year is that it defeated Loras by a greater margin than Wartburg did. This tells really nothing, but it does indicate that the meet on Tuesday will be a good battle, especially since the course is a long four miles.

LAST WEDNESDAY the Knights continued to make winning a habit with a big victory over Luther on the Waverly Golf Course. This meet, which was described by Coach Kurtt as "the tough one," ended in an impressive 25-32 victory for Wartburg.

For the second time this season, senior Lothar Columbus erased the school mark which he has held. His new record time is 15 minutes, 22 seconds — a truly outstanding achievement.

Although bettering the school mark, his time was not quite fast enough to take first place, which went to Takle from Luther with a time of 15:13.

Third place was also grabbed by Luther as a freshman ace turned in a fine showing. Following him was a steady stream of Wartburg colors with Behm, Rasmuson and Palmer taking fourth, fifth and sixth places, respectively. These three Knights all finished within four seconds of each other.

Still another victory to record was accomplished by the Knights last Saturday at Dubuque. The meet ended in a 22-39 score in favor of Wartburg.

Once more senior Lothar Columbus showed his heels to the entire pack and finished the gruelling 3.14-mile course in 16:44.

IN THIRD PLACE came Palmer with Dubuque's top ace, Sage, finishing between the top two Knights. Fourth place went also to Saddler of Dubuque.

Booby Prize Battle Today

By Harry Jebsen

Iowa Wesleyan invades Waverly today for a battle which may be comparable to a New York Mets-Houston Colts baseball game. Today's basement brawl may decide who will win the Iowa Conference booby prize.

Coach "Casey" Johansen will start a revised line-up against Wesleyan in an attempt to put some scoring punch in the Knight attack. The revised line-up will probably look like this:

RE	Paul Zietlow
RT	Dale Fridley
RG	Gayle Newlon
C	Dave Van Ahn
LG	Jerry Schrader
LT	Dennis Rubenow
LE	Bob Wachholz
QB	Roger Kittleson
RH	Bob Matthias
LH	Bill Fulcher
FB	Brent Bruns

ACE QUARTERBACK Eldon Ott is out with a mild shoulder separation but may see limited duty should the doctors give him the "all clear."

Lamented Coach Johansen, "We can't get the breaks, but you have to make YOUR OWN breaks."

At wind-swept Chalmers Field in Dubuque last Saturday, a game closely resembling soccer was played. Dubuque outscored the Knights 19-0, but this didn't reflect the quality of play for the day.

IN A GAME WHICH neither team deserved to win, the encounter more closely resembled an "Indian-giving" ceremony.

Knights gave the ball to the Spartans 15 times (seven punts, five interceptions and three fumbles) while the Dubuque squad gave up the pigskin 11 times via punts.

Dubuque kicked off with the wind at its back and booted the ball out of the end zone. Knights took the ball and moved for three quick first downs but stalled and were forced to punt for the first time.

This was the first of a series of nine successive punts because of the poor offensive charges by both teams. These successive punts carried the game well into the second period, when Dubuque mounted the first serious scoring threat.

DUBUQUE MOVED downfield on a pass interference call on Brent Bruns, taking the ball to the Knights' 25-yard line. This march stalled deep in Wartburg's domain and gave Dubuque momentum, which carried it the rest of the game.

Wartburg took over, but Gary Leeper fumbled and Eldon Ott passed and Dubuque recovered and scored in three quick plays.

A pass from Spartan quarterback David Bacon to Warren Reiniger carried the Spartans to the Wartburg 15; then a pass to Keith Kephart moved the ball to the one-yard line, where Lee Beck carried it over for the touchdown.

Bill Whealey added the extra point, making it 7-0.

KNIGHTS MOUNTED an attack deep into Spartan land, but the half ran out, with the score 7-0 in favor of Dubuque.

Second half opened as boring as the first half with a Heinz mixture of six punts, an interception and two fumbles. These successfully killed off any offensive hopes as well as lulling the fans to listening to the World Series game.

Dubuque's Eldon Werkheiser woke up the crowd by intercepting a Knight razzle-dazzle aerial and going all the way for the second Spartan score, making the total 13-0.

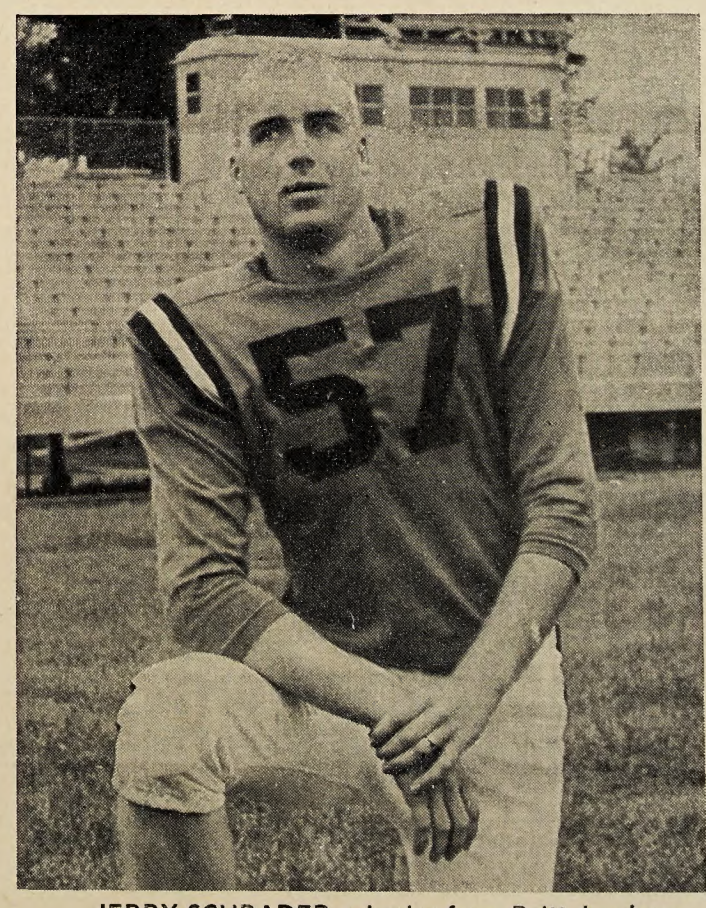
As the Knights received the kickoff after the touchdown, the third quarter ended. Ott then opened up an aerial attack, which may have been a success had the Knights not been assessed with a 15-yard foul penalty.

DUBUQUE TOOK OVER but punted, then held the Knights. The Spartans started up, but again the Knights held deep in Spartan acreage. Dozier Jones of the Spartans quickly intercepted a Wartburg pass and set up the last score of the game.

Keith Kephart lugged over the mail this time for Dubuque, making the final score 19-0.

Final score could have been worse, but a clipping penalty nullified a beautiful touchdown run by the Spartans.

Dubuque linebackers deserve a special mention for their play in this game, for they spent most of the day on Eldon Ott's back or harassing the other backfield members behind the Knights' line of scrimmage.



JERRY SCHRADER, a junior from Britt, has been named Football Player of the Week for his playing as Center in last week's game against the University of Dubuque.

Iranian Gives Opinion Of U.S.

By Marvin Ackerman

"Everyone thinks the people in Iran are so backward. But some of them are a lot more forward than the people in the United States."

This is what Shahnaz Khaksar, foreign student from Iran, said about her home country.

COMING TO WARTBURG is not the first trip she has made to America. Sandy, as she is called by her fellow knights, has attended two other schools in the United States.

She attended Lyons Township High School and L. T. Junior College, both in La Grange, Ill.

While going to school at La Grange, Shahnaz lived with an American family there.

"I find that the families here are closer," she commented, "but I also see that discipline is much too lenient."

The school system is completely different in Iran, according to Sandy. In Iran one goes to high school for six years.

DURING THE FIRST three years the courses are general in nature. The last three years are spent in specific courses in one of three schools — language, science or mathematics.

"High school in America is very easy. You don't have to study because I could never find anything to study," she later commented about the school system.

Like most other foreign students, Shahnaz, whose name in Iranian means "pretty queen," finds Wartburg a very nice place.

"Everyone is so friendly and it's just beautiful here," she said. "I also think the teachers are all good and wonderful."

WHEN ASKED ABOUT Wartburg social life, Sandy, a sociology major, quipped, "What social life?"

Living in the capital city of Iran, Teberan, she attended a completely new high school which boasts over twelve hundred students. It is even equipped with a swimming pool.

Often found studying her Health Education, Sandy feels she must do so because she insists upon getting an "A."

Other courses for her include chemistry, history, religion and physical education.

A second-semester freshman, she said, "I think there are many benefits from a small school, so I'm here."

MUSIC, SPORTS, DANCING and sometimes studying are Sandy's extracurricular activities.

"I really enjoy studying here," she said.

Daughter of a veterinarian, Sandy doesn't want to follow in her father's footsteps. Nor does she want to get a doctor's degree — at any time.

"There are enough doctors in the family," she said. "My brother-in-law, who lives in Pittsburgh, Pa., has a doctorate in engineering. Several others in his family have doctor's degrees, and since my father has one, that's enough.

"I'll just settle for a possible master's," she added.

Sandy, who couldn't speak English when she came to America two years ago, finds dorm life lots of fun, "especially the pep rallies."

"TEENAGERS AT HOME dress the same as here — except they don't wear shorts in public," she said.

According to the brown-haired, brown-eyed Iranian there is a great American influence in Iran. Everybody is doing the twist.

Here on her own and without a sponsor, Sandy thought freshman Squire Days were a lot of fun.

"I wish I could have participated in some of them, but not all of them," she said.

Miss Khaksar, who is a loyal Hebronite, spent last summer loafing and traveling to various parts of interest in eastern United States.

HIGH SCHOOL extracurricular activities included co-editing the high school newspaper, skiing, playing volleyball and swimming.

Twice a first-place winner in swimming meets, Sandy said that she feels that Wartburg should have a swimming pool, too.

In regard to American television, she said that there are far too many commercials and not enough programs.

"Americans think that we ride around on camels all the time. The only time most Iranians see a camel is at the city zoo," she said.

HS Visitors Today

Approximately five hundred high school students from all over the Midwest arrived at Wartburg this morning and met in the Chapel-auditorium to kick off Wartburg's annual High School Fall Visitation and Counseling Day.

Upon arrival and registration, the students were taken in groups on a tour of the campus. Tours were in charge of Wartburg's student guides.

Following the tours, a program was given in which Pres. C. H. Becker welcomed the visitors in behalf of the college.

Program for the day continued with three one-hour sessions of counseling in which the students attended informal discussion groups concerning their particular field of interest.

Smaller counseling sessions with the college admissions counselors were held throughout the day for more information about Wartburg.

In the afternoon visitors attended the Wartburg-Iowa Wesleyan football game.

College Directory For Sale Tuesday

College directories, listing information about all students and faculty members, will go on sale in the cafeteria Tuesday.

The directory promises to be bigger and better than ever this year, according to editor Myrna Lau and her associate editor, Nancy Keel.

Improvements will include more pages and larger print. A blue cover with the Wartburg insignia will highlight the book.

Wartburg's Beta Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary coeducational journalistic fraternity, publishes the directory annually.

It will again be sold for 40 cents and may be obtained in the north and south cafeteria lines. Later, copies may be bought at the Bookstore or from any member of Alpha Phi Gamma.

Pops Tickets Now Available

Pops concert tickets are now on sale for the Smothers Brothers, who will be appearing Tuesday evening, Oct. 29, in the Wartburg College Chapel-auditorium. Cost is $2.50 per ticket with no reserved seats.

Tickets are being sold on campus in all the dorms as well as off-campus. Ticket salesmen are as follows:

Off-campus salesmen include Karl Fink, senior, for Ketha, Cotta and Alpha, whereas all other off-campus students may obtain their tickets from Mike Becker, junior.

Editors NY Bound

Fortress editor Myrna Lau and Trumpet editor Helene Kurtz will fly to New York Thursday to attend the Associated Collegiate Press Conference at Hotel New Yorker.

Conference opens Thursday at 7:30 p.m. and will continue through Saturday.
